ROTFLMAO   Where'd that come from?CyborgDC Recruit Member # 17241 says: quote: I am asking someone to download it and see it there is any I don't want my comp *ed up.I have at least important stuff on my comp unlike most of yall. Harddrive wasting nothingness. ROTFLMAO How many hard drives have you burnt up this week Bumpaneer?loloh....by the way.....how many hard drives do you have CyborgDC?I have a 10 gig,an 80 gig hot swapable,and a zip250 for e-mail storage.......you think i could fill those up in a week or two?I know my computer inside and out.....it's a work station and game machine.....nothing more....i dont keep important numbers on it.....i make frequent backups.....and i regularly reformat and install my OS and hardware drivers to prevent trojan virus attacks by just killing them.I've had the same hard drive set up for two years now and i havent had to replace or upgrade any components other than the cpu cooler fan since i built it.The point is......we here in the mod community trust Westwood studios.......they have always been up on their game......and if it's for download on their server(westwood ftp) then it's safe and virus free.As i said before.......and i thought i was being tactfull enough...but i guess not.Dont get afraid of getting a virus every time that window pops up.....it is poping up because you told it to pop up every time you download or open a new executable [.exe file format] ....if you are that concerned then get virus protection software.Eric.
