Thank God my new work won't be able to be grifted. However, as I made my point to Dante and Abjab, I'll make it here as well. If I catch anyone stealing any models - which include mine or anyone else's - I will personally make sure the truth is known and the thief exposed... You don't want that. You'd better have permission to use them and give them more than one line of credit at the bottom of a text file which you know no one will read.
