quote: BTW , did buzz really still CD-KEY ??Or are those rumours ??If he did, where is the hard evidence??& how can he steal it with a PKG file??Yes he did.He made a script and his installer had a trojan in it that stole your serial and world data key. We know it was his script.The hard evidence is it was his script, the trojan uploaded the keys to his personal FTP space at DK3.com, he bragged about it to his clan two days before he got caught, and he confessed to five people in this community.Since then though he has changed his story and retracted everything. But we all know and he will pay for it one way or another.That is why I remind everyone of it so they wont let their guard down with him.Kai[April 25, 2002: Message edited by: kaibigan31]
