*This is just a new idea that I have been working on for a little while.

Initiation:

Since things have been getting a little dull around here I figured we would give an initiation to the newbs that come in here. This can be something funny something stupid or something mean (just try to keep the mean things to a minimum... ahem Aircraftkiller). Keep it to mostly funny stuff. here is an exapmle of a initiation I found over at the Errant Story forums.

I suggest you either take a cold shower or get a good psychiatrist after that one.

Some other new rules we could implement are:

Necromancy:

Brining a post that is over a month old back. If it went that far back it wasn't ment to be brought back so don't bring it back.

Adoption:

This means someone becomes your 'Forum Mommy' basically it is a mentor that keeps you from making an ass of yourself.

*I would like to note that this is a suggestion and should be giving some thought.

*I am sorry if I caused any of you to go into a state of shock during that 'Initiation'.

EDIT: just a note I thought that Steppo™ would make a great initator.
