

---

Subject: Dawn of the dead.

Posted by Javaxcx on Thu, 15 Jul 2004 18:05:19 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Fords are unreliable pieces of crap in the economy class. My father's old '94 station wagon needed the transmission replaced twice, the engine once (somewhere in the range of 100000KM), the air conditioner has taken a crap since 99', and just the other day, the pressure valve connecting the front of the vehicle (to what I assume is the intake for the air conditioner, I don't know) decided to depressurize and fall to the ground. Now the latching is totally warped due to the rough terrain nearby and the value totally useless.

You if you have to buy economy, buy Chevy. At least you're getting your money's worth.

---