Havoc 89Umm, Silent kane, that is not the place where you grab the gun.

Here is a picture of it in my opinion.

Everything looks great except that highlighted part, if you try to make it as that place where you rest your head, then shouldn't that be rubber?

It should be highlighted. The reason it would be rubbed down is not because you would rest your head there, but because that portion of the gun, when firing, would be under your arm. After repeated use, that is how it would look like.
