mahkra You all do realize that the person who made this gallery probably doesn't think of it as art either, don't you? I would think it was just a convenient place to post screenshots that they (for whatever reason) wanted to share with people.

It's kind of like how (this is just a random example) Crimson has pictures of kittens in her n00bstories image gallery. I highly doubt those pictures have anything to do with any Renegade n00bery.

True, but n00bstories doesn't have documentation about artistic copyright does it?
