That picture is humorous not because of what Aircraftkiller said, but because of everybody using Hell Yeah scripts. Since Aircraftkiller was constantly annoying everyone with random Hell Yeahs, a lot of people on IRC put in a script that echoed him. He knew about this, and wrote that long message because it would get echoed. As you can see, the results were phenomenal, not to mention quite funny.

And also, note what he said:

Aircraftkiller! hope Crimson finds this funny because if she doesn't we're all dead.

He didn't know he was going to get away with it. He was aware of the possible consequences.
