
Subject: A*C*K?

Posted by KIRBY098 on Fri, 23 Jul 2004 18:06:55 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

AircraftkillerOkay, and by that comment if I were to engage in an insult war with you - eventually we'd go around and around with how wrong everyone but you is, and how you'll never concede a point to anyone unless they totally drop your arguments like a sack of crap.

Which leads me to believe that I should have kept you on ignore. Nothing productive ever comes out of talking to you, except for that unintellectual drivel you wrote, which you have the audacity to call a story.

Keeping you on ignore was fun, because it wasn't hard to figure out what you were writing. Very little that you write is remotely productive as evidenced by this thread and about five hundred others. I may not be perfect but for my complaints, at the least I can back up the fact that I can do more for this place than you ever will.

Which doesn't really matter, but for the sake of it, you're still an idiot. Makes me curious as to why I thought you were anything else. Go ahead and respond, you'll make it an exercise in writing in circles like you always do.

Come now, surely you can do better than that? You just applied the same description of yourself that I use for you to me. Talk about circles and unintellectual drivel.

And I'm so happy you like the story.
