Holy smoking piles of doodoo, it's Derek Smart reborn(sic).

In case you're wondering, Mr. Smart recently made a big deal about trying to the rights to Freespace. We was known to have said repeatedly: "I don't care about the fans, I make games to please myself." and "Games are about the bottom line, if they don't make money their useless". Essentially, it it felt the Derek would likely make yet another Battleship 3000 clone using the Freespace License to draw the unsuspecting into his trap.
