Looks fairly nice, I don't particularly care for all the red, and your RenStrike banner, logo, whatever, doesn't really stand out since it is red just like everything else. I like the stars, but it just doesn't seem to fit with everything else. And the lines to the left and right of the content boxes, one of the left ones is too high and about 1 px too much to the left. The right one is too far to the left about 3px, and way too short. Your forums link also does not work. If you want a screenshot of what I mean about the lines, just post back here, it may look fine to you though, since most people use IE, but I'm using FireFox and it looks weird.
