mahkraNeo, you didn't pick apart anything. The only thing you demonstrated is your own stupidity in not understanding that I was mocking ACK with his own language.

I did understand that, completely. You thought you were being clever in turning Aircraftkiller's words against him, but you messed up badly because when you turned it around the statement wasn't true, and didn't even have decent evidence to make it appear true. It was a load of BS that only served the purpose of putting down my hard work, which pissed me off because I'm not well known enough for the majority of Renegade players to hate what I do.

I don't like when people try to use half truths to push their agenda, whatever it is. The fact that you used my work as the basis of your deceptive attempt to insult Aircraftkiller just made it worse. I'm getting tired of people dragging me through the mud in their attempts to attack other people around here.
