Subject: Been looking around for a good webserver. . .
Posted by spreegem on Fri, 30 Jul 2004 20:55:28 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Since .993 of RenAlert came out my server has been constantly uploading it to everyone tryign to download it, and I am now, well have been looking for a good webhost for a while now. Here's all I need for it to have.

20 GB harddrive space, mail server (Optional), PHP, My SQL (Unlimited databases), Linux for the OS preferably, and a fast uplaod speed. Badwidth over 500 gb. Cost $30 or less a month. My dad won't let me get a server from http://www.host-flame.com since they only have one server hosting multiple sites. I don't think I'm gonna be able to find a dedicated server for my site for cheap, but it's worth a shot. . .