

---

Subject: And people want to vote for this guy?

Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Thu, 05 Aug 2004 18:48:49 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Nodbugger

Have you ever watched FOX?

Almost all of their guests have opposing view points.

They bring in experts to explain situations.

Yes, I have. And every time, I have to turn it off in disgust. It's not news. Have you seen Hannity and Colmes? Colmes looks like a skeleton and never proves Hannity wrong when he starts lying, and they bring fools on ot the show.

Like, they'll be replaying Bush's new campaign commercial over and over again and discussing how good it is blah blah blah.

FOX Sucks. It's not news, it's entertainment.

Crimson - I actually enjoyed watching the Democratic Convention on C-SPAN. It's kind of nice to just be able to watch events without having talking heads tell you what to think, whether it be left or right.

I think the real message F9/11 should get across is that war is horrible, and we should only go if absolutely necessary. The graphic footage Moore added really showed that war is not a happy happy joy joy affair.

---