Subject: Video Capturing Software..
Posted by flyingfox on Fri, 13 Aug 2004 00:20:26 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

yes you can record without any performance loss at all. the only drawback is that this method is trickier than simply hitting a button to record. You have to connect a standard video recorder to the tv-out part on your video card using a link cable. Then you do some other shit and get recording. I don't know exactly what you do but do know 2 people that have done it. Message c4miner on this forum or snipegod1 on renegade.the-pitts.net. I haven't seen either of them on for a while though.

Edit: houston, we have success. http://www.renegadeforums.com/viewtopic.php?t=9700