Because one rotten apple spoils the bunch, ever heard that saying?

Happens to be pretty sure, it's like the army, say A private makes a mistake that costs them a fair amount of money, the private gets planed, the whole squad gets punished and who the shit rains down on the most is the Squad Commander, simple.

The fact that you have a lying thief among you shows how little leadership skills there really are in the Studio.

Just my opinion really, agree with it or not.
