2000_yearsAircraftkillerFew, if any, like Reborn and that's what the subject is about.

That's an overly generalised statement made by none other than the Village Idiot of Renegadeforums.

Seriously, what is your problem with anything non-renalert? You just can't resist the bashing, can you? I've seen more maturity in a nursery.

Reborn should be good with a new release, just like it took RenAlert some releases it took to get to it's (admittedly high) standard..

The irony of this is that you contradict yourself in the first sentence, as if I'm an idiot here... You combat my generalization with your own generalization about myself. Real sense you make there, buddy... :rolleyes:

Then you generalize again, and assume that I have problems with anything but RA... Which is completely untrue and cannot be supported by any factual statements. You then contradict yourself once more by preaching about maturity while doing the same thing you accuse me of doing.

It took us three releases over a year's time to get RA to where it is now. It's taken Reborn over two and a half years to become total shit and they still show no signs of improving.
