I think you're being oblivious here. You were exploiting something in the game. By your logic, if you should be able to exploit that, then you should be able to exploit such things as jumping onto buildings that cannot normally be accessible on top. You should also be able to exploit the few and far between "unlimited ammo" places on the map. You should ALSO be able to exploit the PT accessibility behind certain structures.

Also, its their server. They are able to do whatever they want with it.
