Question: If many people are lazy to download the RenGuard, wouldn't it be possible to make the renguard an auto-download? Just like when you join any Half Life or UT servers, it automatically downloads any mods, maps that are on the server, and if you don't want to have the mod, you can stop the download, but you will not be able to play on that server. This sort of works like a virus, except it does no harm.
