Question: If you haven't participated in this forum before today, why should your vote count for something? I would bet the only reason Scrumfy has the sheer number of votes he does is because people came over from another forum, who have no interest whatsoever in this one, simply to vote for him. I don't accuse scrumfy of anything here, nor intend to suggest he should be punished for it. But I mean give me a break. It's petty.
