

---

Subject: Damn that's a big protest.

Posted by Nodbugger on Mon, 30 Aug 2004 00:51:42 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

SuperFlyingEngiNodbuggerEvery person in New York City hates every single one of them.

I wish the police would arrest them already. They have broken too many laws to be allowed to continue.

Which laws have the protestors broken? When one of them does break a law, they get arrested immediately. In fact, a couple Republican demonstrators got arrested for lighting a big green dragon thing on fire. Their names aren't out yet, but as soon as they come out some big blog sites will google their names and find out who they are. My money's on Republicans.

Crimson, a little protestor protesting tip: Don't light the protestor's signs on fire.

For a protest like that a permit is required. And there were no permits given out for the event. Not to mention the millions of dollars in taxes wasted and the police/fire/ambulance personnel diverted to the area. You can also put in there they pissed off a lot of New Yorkers. Taking all those resources away from a city like New York is a terrorist attack in itself.

---