

---

Subject: The Ultimate Iraq War thread

Posted by Nodbugger on Tue, 31 Aug 2004 01:22:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

DaveGMMOk then, let's revert to the logic of that statement.

I declare that it is now legal to smoke weed anywhere you like anywhere in the world.

Me saying so doesn't make it so.

Now, try and figure out how that refers to your post.

You do not get it.

You cannot enforce anything. Only the UN can. They have not said it was illegal. They know what we did and I don't think they are discussing its legality.

That fact of the matter is the UN, who according to you is in charge, has never said it was illegal, ever. So until they say it is illegal it is legal.

Your little weed analogy makes no sense. If the police said smoking weed is OK then it becomes OK. You however are not the police so you can eat shit and die for being so stupid.

---