There's another image of the Cyborg Reaper where you can see more clearly the details of the skull and the headset. The Reaper has the same skull head in the first picture that somebody posted, if you look closely. However, like Sir Phoenixx pointed out, the skull should be less bone coloured and more pinkish... it seems to be covered by a thin layer of decaying flesh in both images.

Personally I think that it's pretty good. The only glaring mistake is where the arms meet the body. The arms are too low down and the shoulders don't stick out enough. If you can fix that then I won't be complaining about accuracy... everything else is there.
