I'm posting this in lieu of Chronojam, who's busy right now.

Spoony was suspended (not banned) from the Renegade Alert forums for reviving a very ugly topic where he and members of our forum argued over the validity of hiding behind objects ingame. Spoony was the plaintiff. Chronojam said to not revive the thread, but didn't bother locking it, and Spoony did so, resulting in a one-week suspension from the Renegade Alert forums. Chronojam denies the suspension having anything to do with being kicked from Non00bs.net, and has himself posted screenshots at Non00bs.net (although I haven't seen them myself) to prove his innocence. Chronojam adds that if ANYONE had revived the topic, ie. the other parties involved, they would have also received a one-week suspension.

A link to the offending topic:

Chronojam would also like to add that he's glad that Spoony stopped PMing him ingame, although it was only because Chronojam disabled pages in Renegade. Spoony can return to the forums in a week if he wishes to do so.
