
Subject: RenAlert Forums.

Posted by Ryan3k on Sat, 18 Sep 2004 23:38:47 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You could have at least replied here (I saw you were logged into the n00bstories forums soon after I posted this thread) :: <http://www.n00bstories.com/phpBB/viewtopic.php?t=3659>

...As opposed to posting this in THESE forums. Everyone knows I wasn't registered here... UNTIL NOW.

I also love how I paged you ex post facto, in-game, and you did not reply to me.

That link explains everything that went down, so don't bother replying here or there until you read the entire thread fully, please. You wouldn't believe how pissed off I am that you !kicked me, as opposed to a !qkick, then ignored me when I tried to contact you (I thought it was either you or Hamtaro75 that kicked me.) How utterly treacherous.

For anyone too lazy to read the thread ::

The reason I am at the angle behind the tipped V2 was because I was trying to bump it back onto its wheels after I accidentally hit it AS IT WAS LEAVING THE WAR FACTORY. In retrospect, it would probably never have worked. But if you think how I continued to bump it after it was already tipped over somehow proves me guilty, that is an insult to my intelligence; there's no point in continuing to bump V2 on its side, UNLESS YOU ARE PERHAPS TRYING TO FREE IT. I notice how you conveniently omitted a screenshot of me saying "SH*T!" right after I initially knocked over the V2...(check the chatlogs). It makes a lot of sense to use a !kick in a situation that was clearly an accident, as opposed to, perhaps, a !qkick?

However, Spooky, I must congratulate you. I was unaware that you were perfect and completely incapable of tipping over a vehicle in an accident, or breaking any server rules on accident, for that matter. Please, give me some pointers, sometime. Just don't !n00b me if I take cover in a firefight.
