

---

Subject: GMail Invites

Posted by Sir Phoenixx on Mon, 27 Sep 2004 11:32:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

RexA lot of people are saying that GMail is better then anyother email service.

I think thats completely wrong. You obviously never tried Spymac.com Email Service. It gives you 1 GB (long before GMail started), you don't need a silly invite and it just works as it should be...

Gmail is a BETA service, meaning it's still in development, the invite thing is to keep the number of users under a certain limit during the testing, once they are happy with it currently, they make more room and send out more invites.

And because Spymac had 1 GB before Gmail doesn't make it better in anyway.

---