icedog90Would it be possible if you were to buy a vehicle, a preferred (modeled) drop ship would arrive while carrying the purchased vehicle, and place it on the ground and then fly away?

If it's possible, I know it would require a lot of work.

All that that person would have to do is use a temp airstrip building controller and set the cinematic animation to the new w3d animation (with correct timing, of course). No scripts if this is correct.

Although I could be wrong... :oops:
