sniper12345Phoenix - AeonNaamloosicedog90I take German at school. Also, there is something else called an online translator.

What does german have to do with dutch? Nothing, i hear that soooo many times

They're both derivative of Bavarian, same with Polish, Austrian, Bulgarian and even Flemish to an extent.

Oh, and English, German and Dutch are all Germanic languages.

He'd already mentioned German and Dutch, and English doesn't count since it's a Creole Language, there's at least Viking, Gaul, Germanic and Latin influences to the language, hence why it's a mess.
