Renardin, continue on your merry mod way and do it however you want. If it's fun you succeeded. No one should shoot for total accuracy if it detracts playability and enjoyment of a mod. If it's gonna be fun to be a GDI Tiberium soldier, than give me a Reborn with a tiberium soldier. Just keep working and don't TRY to start flamewars as in this case. Eventually if the flames stop and people just get diligently working, and be civil. Maybe the past transgressions can be forgotten. I looked back a long time through 108 pages of mod forum. I found this:

Scroll till you see Aircraftkiller post. He didn't come into this with a bias against you guys. Way back when, he didn't hate you guys at all. He stated, in PUBLIC. He respected Reborn. Maybe your team just needs to get in gear and ready yourselves up for a good release. Create a system for bug reporting, really address the problems that people may encounter. Fix those, and you may be back in good graces with everyone. A nan can change... So can a mod.
