Who do you think won? Any highlights or random thoughts?

My favorite part was when Dick said he couldn't answer in 30 seconds, to which he got the response: Well that's all you're going to get. ...Priceless

I thought it was really wierd when Dick reponded to Edwards, thanking him for his kind words about his family, and then stopped.

As far as who won, I think they were pretty evenly matched. IMO, it was nice to see a republican voice that didn't have to deal with communicating clearly. However, when they got off the topic of Iraq, a lot of their answers seemed to be in conjunction with one another.
