Mass destruction weapons are atomic missiles... not stupid old chemical stuff.

Uhh.. ok. Atomic weapons may have massive destruction capabilities, but WMD simply means the death/injury toll has the potential to be large. Chemical and Biological weapons fit into this category.

I will have to admit though, I have never heard of this news source prior to Crimson posting this in the pitts forum. Hence I am taking this an an unreliable (not necessarily meaning inept or false) source until something is printed a known news agency.
