AuroraX0Why not call it a camp, and get it over with?

Because it wouldn't really be a camp, they'd just be separated from the rest of us and then they could "be themselves" and not have to try and make the rest of us "accept them for who they are".

That's one of the reason's Ellen DeGenerates talk show is popular(ish), she doesn't throw her sexuality in your face and make you accept it for her to entertain you. She's just entertaining. Sex should be kept private, all sex, not just homosexual sex.

I'm just as averted to listening to celebrity "X" talk about how he and his slut do jour had dirty anal sex in a public pool as I am hearing how I'm oppressing gay couples. Being gay goes against societal norms and if you participate in one you should go in with your eyes wide open and realize that most of society isn't going to accept you, no matter how many lawsuits you file or how many people you indoctrinate.
