I think that sometime in the future. Somebody's going to stop and realize that they've finally labeled EVERYTHING as cancer causing. Air, Marshmallows, Puppy Dogs, Apple Pie. Then they'll wise up and figure out that CANCER HAPPENS. Whatever your about, it happens. I bet if you took 50 people and put them in the deepest darkest cave with nothing about them but plain ol dirt. You had them live there for their whole life. Some would get cancer. Even though they aren't using microwaves or cell phones or living under power lines or drinking Liquid-Draino.
