Ok now that I've actually looked into it I found this Quote:Standing for the destruction of the capitalist state by the organised working class, Marxism

Marxism is Revolutionary.

Marxism shares with other progressive social movements an uncompromising hostility to all forms of domination — sexism, racism, and so on, but what marks Marxism out from other progressive movements is that Marxists struggle always to overcome the manifold forms of domination and exploitation in and through the self-emancipation of the working class. Thus Marxism is Revolutionary Socialism.

at this site

German and European governments aren't Revolutionary so cannot be based on Marxism, devoed. The website is called "Value_of_Knowledge" maybe you should learn what this is ACK.

This has nothing to do with it but I just thought this line was funny

Quote:political opposition was met with a bullet in the back of the head
