Quote:Nothing happened. Except they cut my post count in half.

These forums have helped me learn all about modding. Without this forum I would have not learned how to model how to unwrap how to put stuff in game. It was the starting point for all my knowledge of the computer. I thank you all for that, I can now walk away saying I have accomplished a lot over the past year and a bit. Over my experience in this forums I have been disliked for my views and opinions flamed by people like Aircraftkiller but yet I still remained because I wanted to give something back to this community for what it did for me.

I never was liked here and I know this. I now walk away with a few good friends and several enemies. I taught many people how to do things with the engine and taught them how to unwrap and model properly. I received thanks and that is all I asked. Although still even though I would help people I was still disliked. The main problems with these forums are the buddy-concept and the lack of moderation when it was first handed over to Crimson. If you were not a close friend of the owner you would get flamed by her close friends and she would never do a damn thing about it.

This caused several out of control people think they are gods and regain a certain power over everyone else. With all the attacks the forums have went threw we have made it but there are still some people who are trying there hardest to take this place down. Now that I look back it is the community's own fault why it has so many enemies. The constant accusations random stereo-typing and name calling would light like bushfire if it was initiated by a high level member. I made three posts that where just quotes and received the title "Ignore My Post Count - I'm a received the title and it remained. Now its not just that I got the title that pisses me off it's the plain fact that so many people such as glyde who has spammed constantly and Aircraftkiller who's entire post count is off of flaming other people in Reborn smashing topics.

I just don't understand how 3 posts make me a spammer when there others making pointless threads, stupid posts with one word! So here I am at the end of my journey through

I may see some of you later on in life with other games I may not but let me ask you ...Do not hate me for what others have said find out for yourself that I am a willing person to help out others I have worked on many renegade projects but sadly none of them left the ground and made a release but I will be getting into the HL2 modding scene. Goodbye everyone!

I also would like to apologise for my final threads of spam they were made out of frustration and were imature.
