I would be honored to get a custom title. Not indignant... You should learn to live with it and enjoy it. Someday maybe I'll get one if I keep being just over the top cool.

Also, NeoX how many people do you think Aircraftkiller hastes? Some... Not all. Personally he's never really posted anything towards me, I've never posted anything towards him. There's this big mentality of factionization. It becomes RenAlert vs. Reborn. The Blackhandstudios vs. Blackcell. We get these big vendettas built up and then they manifest themselves all over the board. When Aircraftkiller gives advice some people automatically write it off because they "pre-hate" him. Aircraftkiller does do an awful lot of bashing but, it's just how he feels.

On the other hand many of the people who say RenAlert sucks are saying it to get a reaction. From the general public or from Aircraftkiller and the team. They may have never even played RenAlert, but since Aircraftkiller made it, and he says Reborn sucks... They say RenAlert sucks. I've played Reborn and RenAlert. I don't think Reborn is quite so bad as everyone gives it the rap of, however, in a totally unbiased and objective fashion, RenAlert is leaps and bounds above. It's very finished and much more playable. Now mind you, I reiterate. I'm not saying Reborn sucks. If they get the latest version out with all the new things they've been working on it may be somewhat better, but the fact remains that RenAlert is farther along.

While I don't so much agree that moving RenAlert to Source is the greatest of ideas, it is at their discretion and I'm sure they'll put out the best peice of work they can. When this happens, the only remaining mods for Renegade of any prominence will be SWMOD and Reborn, making it much easier for Reborn to finally get some positive spotlight... That is, IF they release a new version that shows a good chunk of progress.

Now onto you, NeoX. Where do you see yourself? SWMOD? Reborn? To whom are YOU allied? The fact that that question is asked shows part of the problem with the relations accross the board. As I stated everything is so factionalized. I don't quite know what causes this. Maybe its the topic of this entire Board; C&C Renegade... With like Reborn as Nod, Ren Alert as GDI and then SWMOD thrown in as like... the Mutants. (Nothing negative meant by that HTMLGOD ) Anyhow it's as if we have seperate armies each battling through their posts trying to defeat the other side.

Now where am I going with all this? I haven't the slightest... I'm mainly just doing a sort of friendly rant of various observations about this place that you've just triggered NeoX. The point is you shouldn't stay so biased and blame the bad on a few people. So many people on here participate in flaming. So many are harsh, so many give deconstructive criticism.

I was actually kinda saddened. In the post in the mod forum about blinking lights. Aircraftkiller actually gave accurate advice on obviously how he does it. The person who asked however, just disavowed what he said because he was Aircraftkiller. I bet if Renardin or Laeubi or Oblivion had posted that he woulda said; Gee thanks! That kind of thing really... It bugs me...

Anyhow this post is approaching extraordinary lengths so I'm gonna cut it off here and pause for questions. ;P Actually just so I can read it over and recompose my thoughts... See if there's anything to be added or such.
