AircraftkillerSlash0xBu not everyone can run Source on their computer and some people like the Renegade engine. He left Renegade without finishing it, simply, that's the case.

ACK will never change "me me me...it's all about me"...

And we need to think of 20 people who refuse to get HL2 or upgrade their computers instead of moving on to serve several thousand people, if not more? It's not about me, it's about my community, and I thought of them before I thought of myself. Why should I continue to make things for 20 people when I could be making them for a huge audience of players?

Slash, don't start pushing your luck with me. If you want me to attack you, keep these posts up, I will not be civil anymore if this keeps up.

Fuck you, I'm not taking anymore of your shit. Say what you want, not going to bother me a bit...I target you because you're an ass. I try to fix it, you're an ass. I ask a simple question, you're an ass. I help you get unbanned when BC did a global ban with YOUR NAME ON THE LIST...you still treat me like shit. So go fuck yourself and come back when you've shaved and cut off that ridiculous pony tail.

EDIT:

AircraftkillerI noticed you started being a dickhead to me the moment you joined the Reborn team. Should I attack you too, or do you want me to hold on to this vague concept of "respect" and not bother to attack you?

Actually, it has nothing to do with me joining any team or group...it has to do with the above.
:rolleyes:
