In your opinion, that is.

Quote:Fuck you, I'm not taking anymore of your shit. Say what you want, not going to bother me a bit...I target you because you're an ass. I try to fix it, you're an ass. I ask a simple question, you're an ass. I help you get unbanned when BC did a global ban with YOUR NAME ON THE LIST...you still treat me like shit. So go fuck yourself and come back when you've shaved and cut off that ridiculous pony tail.

Taking my shit? My dear idiot, explain how you're being insulted by me. Do you have multiple personality disorder, and see yourself as others - so when they're attacked, you feel threatened and decide to lash out?

I never attack you. I simply don't bother with you because I don't have the time, energy, or will to be your friend or attempt to know you at all. This is why I don't judge you as "an ass" because you go around attacking every post I make. Since you're doing it though, I don't see much reason to hold back on you anymore.

I'm sorry you've got this misconception in your head that I'm out to get you, but I will be if you want to keep attacking me without reason. There is nothing you can show that says I'm treating you like shit because I rarely, if ever, speak with you at all. When you ask questions, I give you the complete answer you need and you turn around and blame it on me. Hate to break it to you but you're not the one being wronged here, but that's not unusual. People like to victimize themselves when they think it gives them an advantage in relations with others - somehow I don't doubt you're playing the "the big bad aircraftkiller sucks" game so you can get Reborn to accept you, seeing as how you just joined their staff list.

I have had no personal problem with you until you started attacking me here recently. If you want to work something out with me you can easily speak with me via e-mail or through an instant messaging service. Or you can keep up this argument with me, it really doesn't matter to me either way. Just don't say I'm not giving you a chance here.
