Quote:Here's a bit from my blog:

Has anyone noticed that whenever a black conservative is talked about or appointed for any position by President Bush the Democrats come out in droves complaining that the person is not qualified for the position? For example we've had attacks on Dr. Rice saying that she's not qualified for the job as Secretary Of State and the latest Democrat putting down a black conservative is the Senate Minority Leader Harry Reid of Nevada who this weekend claimed that Justice Clarence Thomas is "an embarrassment to the Supreme Court". For one Justice Thomas has served on the Supreme court for years without any scandals or shocking rulings and Dr. Rice has served as the National Security Advisor as well as having a doctorate in political science and having been deeply involved in foreign affairs since the eighties.

Both of them are and have been at the top of their fields but from the looks of it the only real thing that disqualifies them from holding high office in the eyes of the Democrats is the color of their skin. Dr. Rice and Justice Thomas have made it to the top by their own hard work all without the handouts and quotas that the Democrats constantly push on the Black community as the only way to get ahead. Both of them have escaped from the plantation that the Democrats run so the master has to tear them down less any of the other slaves notice and start getting ideas of their own.

Yes I'm calling the Democrats racist, at least those who are calling Dr. Rice and Justice Thomas unqualified are.
