CrimsonI am thinking of a forum where people can talk without being ridiculed or getting posts about "TMI", etc.

But what if they are posting really fucked up, bullshit stuff.. and what they NEED is to be ridiculed to wake them up?

I'm going to take a wild stab and propose that none of us here are psychologists or psychiatrists... Consider that as you decide what "types" of posts should go there, and what "types" of responses you are going to allow.. Sometimes, allowing the world the opportunity to share their opinion, isn't what a troubled soul really needs to help them out. (see my paragraph above)

Just my 2 pennies..
