NEW POST FOR THE SCHOLARLY ELITE OF THE RENEGADE MESSAGEBOARD

In one particular instance, I can remember myself vividly participating in an orderly game of C:\Westwood\Renegade.exe when I came upon a man foreign to this world. He was a n00b. Apparently the young lad knew not how to use the voice commands, chat or private messaging features in the game and I of course found him very frustrating to deal with. At one time after purchasing an 800 credit flame tank I had left the vehicle to repair the NOD Airstrip. Upon returning to my valient red flame-dispensing tank I realized that this man, of foreign persuasion yes, was occupying the seat at the helm of the vehicle. Using the keyboard command controls he guided the vehicle towards its death. Quickly and steadily he drove into the enemy base without my consent.

YE' OLDE POST

well like made foreign people that dont even chat or PM in game steal my vehicles and upon gettin in them, drive them straight into the enemy base firing randomly at buildings.
