Maybe it is good idea to have some kinda Renguard Buddy list where people can search for a username (practically the same way as the locator) and click ADD TO BUDDY LIST.

This then appears in a personal List somewhere on the RG site.

Maybe a good idea to have some kinda module on the RG MOTD so people can see who is online when they log on to the RG Network. It is then they can click the username and find out what server they are in, and how populated it is.

Then 'maybe' later on you could implement a PM function so users can actively chat, just like they do on MSN, AIM, etc...

Just speaking my mind

Andy.
