

---

Subject: could use some help

Posted by Burn on Sun, 02 Jan 2005 07:27:33 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

That's happening to you because you have your soldiers inside a building. Thus, they will not respond to much of anything at all. Meaning, if you put those same exact soldiers above ground outside of a building, then they'd kick the crap out of each other. But since they're inside a building they decided to be idiots and increasingly frustrating.

To the extent of my knowledge (which isn't much at all), what you're trying to do will not work. Soldiers, no matter what you do with them, will not attack each other or do much of anything inside a building. I'm sorry, but I think there's no fix for this or no way around it. I could be wrong though and maybe there is a fix for it, but I can't guarantee anything.

Sorry to deliver the bad news.

---