I think he did the video with the sole purpose of showing uneducated mods what the cheat was capable of. I wouldn't expect him to be a cheater outside of this experiment, he is obviously smart enough to realize that a moderator in this forum could match his IP. So please give him the respect he deserves. I know a lot of us can say, oh well I never EVEN touched the cheats, because I want to remain a pure Renegade player, but it takes a lot of courage to test the cheats out and post your results so that people can learn from them. I know a lot of moderators out there can tell a cheat from skill, but a lot of moderators are absolute noob and need help to determine that. EVEN if Renguard is running. I myself hadn't even seen a Big-head screenshot before last month, so it doesn't hurt to educate the general audience a bit.
