Reminds me of a building that our platoon once stormed a while back *ah memories* one cheaky git of an enemy leaned out of one of the top windows and started to shoot my section, I picked him of pretty sharpish! (with blanks mind, but he buggered of in to the safty of his building, only to be taken out a few seconds later, )

Actually!! i would love to re-create the small village we trained in as a DM It would bring a bit of real soilding into Renegade. If you are going to release that building it would give me less work to do as i already have enought on my plate, which i would appreciate.
