Here's the cool thing, a saw blade tornado!

Okay, take a body (I used what's his face, the evil scientist) and take the manipulator and lift him up high, and press the right mouse button to lock him in place.

Take the crossbow, and use the rope. Attatch the rope to him then aim up high and shoot to the sky.

Take out the manipulator and press reload, his body will fall, and if done correctly, hang on the string (rope).

If his body is a fair way off the ground and only suspended by the rope (you can tell, he'll swing around quite a bit, if he's lower he'll make a crowbar pinyata) and then take out your shotgun.

Using the right mouse button, select sawblade.

Attatch the sawblades to him, and walk around him. Only fire 4-5. If his body starts magically jerking like a druggie on crack, take out the crossbow and press reload to watch his body twist, and if not careful, cut you up.

If after putting 4-5 sawblades on his body and he doesn't start jerking around, redo it all.
