I don't play renegade for rank at all and I despise people who do because it ends up with nobody enforcing teamwork but solo work so they can rack up some kills, hardly anybody cares about your rank so what's the point in trying to build it up?

I personally play the game for fun, I don't give stuff about kills or points and I also despise people who's tactics are camp for the whole game and win on points, play the game how it should be played.

These days I'm not playing a lot of Renegade because of the mass infestation of total idiot solo b00ns.

I play clan matches whenever possible though.
