jonwill am going to look into a console command that displays an emoticon over the head of a specific player that is visible to the members of their team only.

Like the radio command emoticons but without the radio commands.

You will be able to use any w3d file you like.

Lol that would be nice... But if someone makes a mammy appear wouldn't it block the view of your team?

Maybe a size limit? Or 1 size for everything?
