Dammit you need to hurry up because I getting kicked from games left and right. I think serves shouldn't be computer controlled as they wont listen to any trying to explain to them what the problem is. Im also starting to think that rengaard is just one huge misstake. What I am saying is that if they want to cheat they will and to be honest there's nothing you can do about it. Because they will find ways around the program I will promise you that. Also kicking people just because they dont run a specific download is just plain WRONG and when people complain about the program and it,s bugs you dont respond for a cople days and try to put most of the blame on the user. You need to fix the bugs. You need to run the servers without auomating them. You need to listen. Im fed up with waiting for a response to my post. Im fed up with not being able to enter games because the damm server says Im not run the peice of crap when I truly am and I fed up with your arogance. I want results no failure and if you want to call me an idioty or stupid FINE because I dont care what you think because your the ones responsible for the servers and the program NOT ME.
