cowmisfitJavaxcxNo, HIS UNDERSTANDING is different than your's. To YOU it's stupid but to him it reflects his personal concept of his patriotism. I, or you, don't necessarily have to agree with it, but to scorn it is just as bad as what you accuse him of.

So your saying i shouldn't say anything scornful about his opinon, not say / do anything.

Kinda the same aproch people like him took on Iraq. "you know, saddam is a really big menie, but we shoudn't scorn his point of view or actions, that would be wrong, even if he is killing thousands of woman and children, there only iraqi what do we care."
Of course, not. Then that would mean we're taking action because of our morals, but we all know what morals lead to... sex because we all know that everything leads to sex.
